

Disclaimer

The content of the website is in the exclusive ownership of Inmotion Networks.

All rights reserved.

The user acknowledges that any content published on the site may be under protection of copyright, trademark and other intellectual property rights. Any, unauthorized use of these contents, infringement of copyright, trademark and intellectual property or the perpetration of an illegal act may result in damages and other legal consequences in compliance with the laws of the Republic of Kenya and with the legislation of the International Community.

InMotion Networks does not take responsibility for any incidentally occurring damage initiated by the use of our internet service, its inadequate operation, malfunction of the system or unauthorized amendment of data, or by computer virus, connection or other system failures, or by any similar causes.

Upon transferring personal data to us, you agree to the registration and management of your personal data for purposes and period of time depending as essential by the nature of the service.

InMotion Networks is exempt from liabilities deriving from damage due to unauthorized use, disclosure or loosing of user login name, password or certificate. The detailed description of management rules of data forwarded to us by the user can be found at the "Data Protection Principles".

REFUND POLICY

If you have paid for access through the system or paid for a service, you have right to cancel within seven days of the purchase in case you haven't used the service that you've paid for. If you cancel your order, you will have your payment returned.